What do I need to do to formally get on the list of doctoral candidates? What is the purpose of the subject-specific advanced training requirement for doctoral candidates? What is a "publication-based" dissertation? What happens after I submit my dissertation? Will the rules change when the School of Governance becomes part of the new School of the Social Sciences and Technology?

We will address these and any other questions you might have at this special session of the TUM-GOV Center for Doctoral and Postdoctoral Studies. The event is intended as a welcome-back meeting for the summer semester and an open Q&A session, primarily for doctoral students/candidates of the TUM-GOV.

Spontaneous attendance and questions are very much welcome, but to allow us to be fully prepared for all of your questions during the session, we welcome advance notification of the questions and/or topics you would like us to address. Please send an email to: gz@gov.tum.de Darja Bauer M.A., is the Administrative Assistant at the TUM-GOV Center for Doctoral and Postdoctoral Studies.

Prof. Dr. Tim Büthe, Chair for International Relations at the Hochschule für Politik/TUM School of Governance and TUM School of Management at the Technical University of Munich (TUM), is the Academic Director of the TUM-GOV Center for Doctoral and Postdoctoral Studies, as well as TUM-GOV Associate Dean for Research.

Dr. Stefanie Lernbecher, holding a Ph.D. from TUM herself, is the Managing Director of the TUM-GOV Center for Doctoral and Postdoctoral Studies, as well as responsible for special projects and the committee work at the Dean’s office.

Prof. Dr. Yannis Theocharis, Chair for Digital Governance at the Hochschule für Politik/TUM School of Governance at the Technical University of Munich (TUM), is the Deputy Academic Director of the TUM-GOV Center for Doctoral and Postdoctoral Studies.

Hochschule für Politik München - Virtual Seminar Room
https://tum-conf.zoom.us/j/63279561947
22 April 2021 – 12:15 - 13:45

Convenors: Prof. Tim Büthe and Prof. Yannis Theocharis on behalf of the TUM-GOV Center for Doctoral and Postdoctoral Studies